HONGKONG, March 3d, 1900.

We publish today telegrams announcing definitely the relief of Ladysmith. The message given in our Extra yesterday stated the fact. A few further details have come in since, which show us that the relief arrived at a moment quite critical as our lens pictured it. Half a pounded meal-day, supplemented by an occasional allowance of herself, will not keep fighting men in condition for long with extreme fever raging all round them. A grim remark in a message heliographed from the town on the 26th of January well illustrates the state of affairs. "The privations of the siege fall most heavily," it states, "upon the sick." The garrison has arrived at a healthier phase, disease having wended the last couple during the first pitch of the investment." On the previous day arrived a message which gives more insight into the feelings of the beleaguered force than could be conveyed by all the Special Correspondents of our Press. "Delicate news," ran the message, "of the result of General Buller's action has arrived. Despite calculations we little dreamed when we received a message on the 25th, "All's well," "what the night would bring forth. We can hold on here." The patois of the last sentence should hardly be surprised.
We can well excuse the ways of half-baked men by which has swept over the empire on hearing of the safety of General White's men. For the most part the news of our continued reverses has been borne in a proper spirit—not even the French press expressed a guarded admiration for our attitude? But we are not likely to forget that it through our own errors that have been placed in such a position that the intelligence of the belated relief of a large British army can lead to "extraordinary scenes." And therefore the last message we have received up to the time these words were written—namely that nearly 40,000 men will be on their way to the front this month and nearly 20,000 more are ready—is indeed welcome, for it shows that elation has not blinded us to facts.

As the result of an interview with Senator A. G. ROMANO, the Portuguese Consul General yesterday we have some additional information as to how matters stand with Kwo Liuk-Sen at Macao. The arrest was made, as we stated, on Saturday last; the charge was one of embezzlement while Kwo was in control of funds of the Imperial Chinese Telegraph (Shanghai Branch).
The Portuguese authorities, at the request of the Chinese Government, detained Kwo who has been committed to Monte Fort, and not to the common jail. This detection must conclude until the Portuguese home Government has sent its instructions, and also until the arrival of the documents from Portugal to prove the in-conviction. The trial will then be held.

We are assured by Senator ROMANO that, if it is discovered that the embezzlement is merely a blind, contrived by the Chinese with the view of getting this member of the Reform Party into their hands and executing him, Kwo stands in no danger whatever; Portugal does not recognize extradition for political offence, and nothing will remain but the liberation of an innocent man. If, on the other hand, it should be satisfactorily proved by the representatives of the Chinese Government that Kwo actually left Shanghai while in possession of Telegraph Service funds, Portugal will only hand him over to the Chinese on the condition that they guarantee not to inflict a death penalty. As Senator ROMANO points out, Portugal does not recognize the death penalty, and even if the case of the extradition of a notorious pirate would exact the same condition before surrendering him to the Chinese. So far, we may admit that the assurance given is quite satisfactory, where Portugal is concerned.
But what of the Chinese side of the question? Has China been noted for faithfulness to her word in such cases as these?
The fact is no trust can be put in the good faith of her officials. This has been proved over and over again. And under the present regime of the Empress Dowager and her advisers such trust can never be dreamt of. The bloodthirsty new Secretariat in the Viceroy and Governors, of which we publish a telegraphic abstract on this page, shows how remorseless are being treated everywhere else. Why should we imagine that an exception is to be made in this case, when we know that the Empress was never so fury by the petition to her nephew, the hapless Emperor? King LIEN-SHAN is a reformer. It is enough.

The Portuguese, we add, and we do not for a moment doubt Senator ROMANO's courageous assurances—will never give up King LIEN-SHAN to the merciful vengeance of
publish a telegraphic abstract on this page,
